What Is a Certified Credit Union Financial Counselor?

Did you know a Certified Credit Union Financial Counselor (CCUFC) is a designation given to those who are specially trained in assisting our members to understand their financial situation and develop solutions. Subjects include budgeting, saving, and reducing expenses.

51% of TOPCU's employees are certified as financial counselors, this allows us to offer additional benefits to our membership.

Financial counseling is offered free for TOPCU members and is designed to assist with a variety of financial situations.

Members can work with a counselor to create an action plan based around their goals. This may be someone just starting to build their credit or someone that needs a little help to get back on the right track after a financial setback. It could also be someone who just wants to know they are making good choices.

Courses are designed to help improve the financial wellness and literacy of our members and to help give them the tools to develop their financial standing.

Get a clear picture of your current financial landscape and the strategies you can use to hit your financial goals.

Understanding Your Credit Score

Multiple factors are considered in determining your credit score. While each version of your score is a little different, the most common formulas are determined with the following:

- Payment History – 35%
- Credit Utilization – 30%
- Length of Credit History – 15%
- New Credit – 10%
- Types of Credit – 10%

TOPCU Vice Chair and Retired Tucson Fire Department Assistant Chief Michael McKendrick has been inducted into the Arizona Fire Service Hall of Fame!

McKendrick worked at Tucson Fire for more than thirty years. After retirement, he founded the Greater Tucson Fire Foundation, which aids firefighters and their families.

Mike's previous community volunteer work also includes seven years of coaching football and wrestling at Sabino High School, where he was named 2002 Southern Arizona Wrestling Coach of the Year. Congratulations Mike McKendrick.
